Art education

Tours and workshops

Dear Museum Visitor,

the teaching of historico-cultural and artistic content is an important component of our work in the Lower Rhine Folklore and Culture Museum. It allows you to get to know our institution and its content better or to get creative. Along with our museum programme, which appears every quarter and includes changing educational museum events, you'll also find our bookable offers in this flyer.

We do not limit ourselves to any age or target group here. Big, small or young at heart, as a family or group, there's always something for everyone. And if for some reason you don't find anything – just let us know!

Guided tours

Look forward to a journey of discovery through our museum with exciting topics:

We'll be happy to put an individual guided tour together for you.

Guided tours for school classes

Art, history and folklore are ever-present in the Lower Rhine Folklore and Culture Museum, and subjects such as geography, German or religion can also be wonderfully combined with a museum visit. All guided tours are also harmonised with the respective kindergarten, primary and secondary school age groups and entertainingly organised with exciting little highlights:

Between Symphonion and butter churns

On the trail of Max and Moritz and Slovenly Peter

Taster classes in the historic class room

We've also designed a guided tour on an individual class room topic here.

School classes in the Cleves District enjoy free admission to the museum.

Keeping memories alive

Guided tours for those coping with dementia

People are living longer, and with age come health issues. A dementia diagnosis is an increasingly more frequent challenge to deal with. Society's seniors begin to forget. Quite often it is the short-term memory that suffers first.

We want to help here and evoke memories with you as an affected person and / or relative. We can do this with our extensive collection of old toys, old arts and crafts and the ambit of living in times gone by. This reviving and recognising cannot of course halt the onset of dementia, but it may delay it somewhat and for certain moments bring the past to life again.

Guided tour prices

60 minutes: € 30 plus admission

90 minutes: € 45 plus admission
